37. Healthy practices of the institution

The college not only promotes academic excellence but also the holistic formation of students. Therefore, it not only keeps its focus on the curriculum, but also on the co-curricular and extra-curricular activities. With this objective it follows a number of healthy practices a few of which are enlisted as below:

Academic activities:

- The college brings out a handbook regularly with academic calendar and the general information about the admission, exams, discipline, staff, committees, etc.
- The college celebrates every year college day and sports day to encourage the spirit of creativity and academic & cultural excellence among the students and the staff.
- The college celebrates freshers' day and valedictory day.
- Career guidance to students is imparted to the students on a regular basis, particularly this year through the career guidance and counseling cell.
- A Mentoring system is being reflected to introduce at full length in the next year.
- Two days of prayer service cum retreat is arranged for the catholic students and the Christian students.

Value education of the students:

- Value education is an integral part of the core-curriculum. It is imparted through a syllabus approved by the Board of Studies and the Academic Council. A pass in this course is obligatory for award of degree.
- Apart from this course on Value Education, all the first year students have a compulsory paper on Indian Heritage and Culture, which exposes them to the rich and varied cultural traditions of our country.

- Similarly, all the second year students have a compulsory paper on Science and Civilization. It enables them to remain more humane and civilised citizens of the country in the midst of present day rapid technological advances which focus more on machine than on man.

Inculcating civic responsibilities among the students:

- To inculcate civic responsibilities among the students, the college conducts an annual rally with specific themes. The recent ones being Sadhbhavana Rally for religious harmony, Solidarity Rally for expressing solidarity with Armed forces of the country and Loyola Run to inculcate traffic sense. The above rallies not only remind the students of their civic responsibilities but also infuse a civic sense among the public.
- Apart from these rallies, the cadets of NCC and the volunteers of NSS regularly participate in law and order arrangements for public functions and regulation of traffic at important road junctions, which in turn inculcate in them a civic sense.

All-round development of the students:

- Co-curricular activities play an important role on the campus. The individual departmental associations organise workshops, seminars, and group discussions. These promote among students self-reliance and an ability to work with others as members of a team.
- The physical well being of the students is also taken care of through sports and games. Loyola could boast of a number of playing fields and sports facilities.
- The college also encourages an active participation of students in various cultural activities. Annual cultural festivals such as Sphoorthi were organised to bring out the hidden talents of students in drama, art and music.
- The college considers inculcation of proper values as an integral part of the student's personality development. Apart from the course on Value Education, the very ethos of the college enables students to imbibe the values of discipline, hard work, cooperation and team spirit, tolerance and communal harmony.
- The college also believes that faith formation is essential for the integral formation of students. Apart from the religious instruction, discourses by various religious leaders, and celebration of common religious and national festivals promote the faith formation of students. "To be rooted in one's own faith and yet remain open to other faiths" is an important ideal of the college, which is trying to foster inter-religious understanding and communal harmony among the students. The daily schedule starts by all means with a short prayer.

- Compassionate concern for the weak and marginalised is an essential part of the overall development of the students. Hence students are engaged in various out-reach programmes and actively participate in the leadership programmes conducted by AICUF with this specific objective in view.

So a student goes out of the institution with a sense of self-reliance, discipline and hard work and becomes not only self-oriented but also society oriented.
