Launching of Certificate Programme in Banking, Finance and Insurance (CPBFI) Bajaj Finserv Limited, Mumbai

23-7-2019

A Certificate Programme in Banking, Finance and Insurance (CPBFI) offered by Bajaj Finserv Ltd, Mumbai was launched at Andhra Loyola College today. The chief guest Ms. Amrita Nawal, Senior Manager, Bajaj Finserv Limited, Mumbai said that the students need to equip themselves to meet the changing scenario of the industry. They need to concentrate on the potential sectors such as banking, Finance and insurance as there is a shortfall of employment in IT and Telecom sectors.

She said that the students in schools and colleges all over the country are taught to memorise and get good marks. The industry doesn't need such persons but the ones who can think critically and analyse the situation and provide solutions. Hence there is a gap and this certificate course is expected to fill the same, she has said. The contents of the course will be delivered by personal from industry. It will be an interactive model and thus the students will be forced to come out of their comfort zones and learn the real needs of the industry. Emphasis will be on communication skills and participatory learning, she has added.

The principal Rev. Fr. G.M. Victor Immanuel presided over. Rev. Fr. Melchior, Vice Principal, Sri. Ch. Veeraiah Chowdery, Head of the Dept of Commerce and Dr. G. Sahaya Baskaran the Coordinator of Employability Skills Centre, Sri. Rajasekhara Reddy, Director RARE Academy participated along with the staff and students of ALC.

Press release

Skills for Success in the world of Banking

There are jobs for a student who can speak and tell about himself and why he or she needs a job. Majority of the jobs in the industry require students who can communicate with customers and make the business move, said Sri. Ajay Sathe, Group Head – Customer Experience and CSR.

The present needs of the service sector are not the ones who can write poems or understand Shakespearian English. The need is simply who can communicate in simple sentences and the students need to concentrate on this aspect while studying, he has emphasized.

Bajaj Finserv Ltd entered a Memorandum of Understanding with ALC to offer Certificate Programme in Banking, Finance and Insurance (CPBFI) from this academic year. The contents of the training include Banking, Insurance, Communication skills, Computer awareness and interview skills. The young graduates could be moulded as professional to meet the emerging needs of the business sector, he has told.

The principal Rev. Fr. G.M. Victor Immanuel appreciated Sri. Ch. Veeraiah Chowdery, Head of the Dept of Commerce and Dr. G. Sahaya Baskaran the Coordinator of Employability Skills Centre, for facilitating this MOU for the benefit of the students of ALC. Sri. Rajasekhara Reddy, Director RARE Academy and Rev Fr. S. I. ACTIVITIES IN COLLABORATION WITH YESUPADAM CHARITABLE SOCIETY

1. ALANA – PILLALLA PANDUGA:

Andhra Loyola College, in collaboration with the Yesupadam Charitable Society, organized the Pillala Panduga Programme with the aim of not only entertaining but also educating street children in the Penamaluru, Poranki, and Krishna Lanka areas of Vijayawada. The initiative sought to provide these underprivileged children with a day filled with joy and learning on 14/11/2021.

The DOVE volunteers from Andhra Loyola College took charge of coordinating various competitions, including drawing, elocution, and running races, which were met with overwhelming enthusiasm from the participating children. It was heartwarming to witness the smiles on their faces as they engaged wholeheartedly in the activities provided for them.

Prizes were awarded to the winners to recognize their achievements. The event saw participation from Ms. Zarika, a teacher from Navjeevan Bridge School in Poranki, members and staff of the Yesupadam Charitable Society, Mr. John, the Coordinator of Extension Activities, along with 20 student volunteers. In total, nearly 120 school children enjoyed and engaged in the programme.

2. ALERT – TRIBAL EXPOSURE PROGRAMME:

As part of our College ALERT Extension programme, our first-year degree students, serving as College Student Volunteers, embarked on a meaningful journey of exploration. From the 15th to the 16th of November 2021, they immersed themselves in the community of LITDS Katukapally. Subsequently, on the 17th of November 2021, they continued their mission by visiting the Yesupadam Charitable Society.

During these visits, our students conducted a comprehensive livelihood study among the tribal villages, seeking to gain Tribal Exposure as part of the ALERT Extension programme. Through this hands-on experience, they delved deep into the livelihood conditions of the primitive tribes, studying their cultivation techniques, dietary habits, and health standards. Moreover, they had the opportunity to explore the abundant forest resources, including the unique poodu crops grown on the hills.

Experiencing life without modern amenities firsthand, our students gained invaluable insights into the traditional cultures upheld by these tribal communities. Despite facing challenges such as the lack of proper roads, drinking water, and electricity, the tribes demonstrated remarkable sustainability through their age-old practices.

3. EDUCATIONAL SESSION ON MENSTRUAL HYGIENE:

In collaboration with the Yesupadam Charitable Society, an impactful Educational Session on Menstrual Hygiene was organized for women rag pickers at New Rajarajeswari Peta, Vijayawada on March 16, 2023. The session aimed to empower and educate women on crucial aspects of menstrual hygiene. Mr. Joshvua Neeraj, Program Coordinator, and Outreach staff from Yesupadam Charitable Society, along with Mr. R. John, Extension Work Coordinator, actively participated in the program, underscoring the importance of community education.

During the session, Ms. Jessy, a dedicated counselor, conducted a group meeting among the women workers. She provided essential instructions on maintaining proper hygiene during the menstrual period. In cases where sanitary napkins were unavailable, she suggested the use of cloth napkins as an alternative. The information shared by Ms. Jessy was not only well-received but also deemed highly useful by the women in attendance. The session, facilitated by a compassionate lady counsellor, not only addressed practical aspects of menstrual hygiene but also fostered an open and supportive environment for the women to share and learn from one another.

4. FREE MEDICAL CAMP:

As part of the ALERT program, a Free Medical Camp was organized in collaboration with the Yesupadam Charitable Society at Poranki Slum on April 2, 2023. The camp was attended by children and elders from the slum, revealing prevalent health issues such as skin infections, body pains, and instances of malnutrition among the children due to inadequate diets.

During the camp, special attention was given to sensitizing rag pickers about the importance of a nutritious diet and the need for proper sanitation practices in the surrounding areas. Mr. R. John, Extension Coordinator, along with the dedicated staff of Yesupadam Charitable Society, including Mr. Jhasuva Neeraj, Project Coordinator, actively participated in the program. Their combined efforts aimed not only to address immediate health concerns but also to educate and empower the community on sustainable health practices for the well-being of both children and elders. This initiative showcased the commitment of the ALERT program to holistic community development and healthcare awareness.
